CORN FARMERS RACE TO GET THEIR CROPS PLANTED

HELD BACK by weeks of rain and cold weather, farmers of Illinois and other corn belt states are working long overtime hours to get their crops planted. Sons and daughters and friends are helping get the corn planted so that the crop will survive the frost damage in the fall. Bernard Marx, 15, and Ennis Hammerlinck, 9, are but two of the many who are helping around Orion, Ill. (International)

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

I'll venture the assertion that the water table in Fayette County is just about as high as it has been at any time in recent years, due to the abnormally heavy rainfall the past two months, when total precipitation has ranged all the way from 12 to 15 inches in Fayette County.

Every artesian well that I have observed recently is pouring forth a strong flow of water which comes from the limestone 80 to 130 feet deep.

Shallow wells are standing almost full of water throughout the county, and streams have been running at least bank full most of the time during the two months, and at other times have poured their waters out over the lowlands.

Earlier this year there was a pronounced shortage of rainfall, so that heavy precipitation in the last two months came to replenish the dry soil and to fill the water holding stratas at considerable depth.

I have often told you that the water supply throughout Paint Creek valley in this county is a very sensitive one, and I might include some of the other creek valleys.

Tests have shown that in 24 hours time the heavy pumping of water from deep wells here has lowered an artesian well many feet that was located eight miles north of Washington C. H., in the Paint Chapel neighborhood.

That proves just how far the deep wells here draw upon the water supply to the north of Washington C. H., and how quickly that supply may become exhausted.

I firmly believe that when this city's much talked about but never provided "abundant water supply" is available, it will be through dams through across Main Paint Creek or East Fork of Paint Creek.

I may be "barking up the wrong tree" but I can not see how an abundant supply of water is going to be obtained here by drilling additional holes in a territory that already has been tapped numerous times by deep wells.

New Call Issued For Farm Workers

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—The government issued a call today for more seasonal workers to help farmers produce another food crop of wartime proportions.

Despite the return of many veterans and war plant workers to agriculture, there still is a shortage of manpower for such seasonal operations as planting and harvesting.

Tornado Victims Now Being Buried

PINE BLUFF, Ark., June 3—(AP)—Rural communities in the plantation country south of here prepared today to bury their dead from Sunday afternoon's tornado, which killed 34, and injured or made homeless hundreds of other. A tentative death list stood as high as 37, but by yesterday afternoon had been reduced to 35.

Forgery Charged In Steel Racket

Inquiry into Jacked-up Prices Uncovers Sensational Evidence

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—A Senate committee said today it has found "evidence of forgeries of steel orders" on "stolen letterheads" of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

A small business subcommittee investigating a "gray market" in steel said in a statement that Bethlehem has given it an "amazing story" involving theft of company letterheads from its Philadelphia district sales office.

Illegal Operation Involves 4 Held

CLEVELAND, June 3—(AP)—Detective Joseph Munley reported that four persons were charged yesterday with taking part in an illegal operation on a 23-year-old housewife now reported in a critical condition from a blood infection.

The detective listed them as Charles Fleener, 40, a Kingsport, Tenn., city fireman; Joseph Colonese, 25, freshman art student at Kent State University; his wife, Mrs. Caroline Colonese, 22, and Robert Skiljan, 20, a factory worker. The detective said Fleener was accused of performing the abortion on a kitchen table and the others with aiding him.

Mrs. Colonese was quoted by the detective as saying Fleener was paid $150 after he flew here May 5 in answer to her phone call.

Detective Munley said an indictment against Fleener would be sought immediately and extradition proceedings initiated.

May Refused Pay, Garsson Declares

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—Munitions maker Henry Garsson said today that he tried to give Andrew J. May "compensation" for business help when May was wartime chairman of the house military committee but May refused it.

Garsson testified before a federal court jury trying him, his brother, Murray, and May on bribe charges. He related that May had been doing so much work for him in managing a Garsson-financed lumber firm in Kentucky he suggested to May that he should get paid for it.

The government charges that the Garsson brothers paid May $55,000 in bribes through the Cumberland Lumber Company for wartime favors which the former Kentucky congressman allegedly obtained for the Garsson munitions combine.

Native of Russia Gets Rich in U.S.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3—(AP)—Russian born David Sarnoff, who took a job 41 years ago as messenger boy with the Commercial Cable Company, received $12,703 last year as president of the Radio Corporation of America and director of the National Broadcasting Co. and RCA Communications Inc.

Sarnoff's gross salary was disclosed in the annual report of his company filed with the securities and exchange commission.

Although streams of the county are at flood stage as result of torrential rainfall over part of their valleys, and most of the vital farm work in the county again has been halted for several days, this area escaped some of the heavy floods which have occurred in part of the state and in some other states, during the past 48 hours.

Up to 8 A. M. Tuesday, rainfall in June totaled 1.10 of an inch, of which .64 of an inch fell during the 24 hours ending Tuesday at 8 A. M.

The farm situation is growing more critical day by day as the season advances and no plowing or planting can be done.

Floods All Over State
Streams swollen by torrential spring rains rose to flood crests in central and southwestern Ohio today, forcing at least 50 families from their homes.

Firemen aided by volunteers rescued 30 families in boats from the Eldorado plat area of Harrison Township north of Dayton in the Miami River Valley. Two breaks in a levee stranded cottages in flood waters six to eight feet deep.

Twenty families were moved from their homes at Snyderville in low-lands southwest of Springfield as Mad river overflowed a wide area.

Flood control installations built in the Miami Valley a generation ago, however, were expected to thwart any major flood.

An undetermined number of families moved from homes in lowlands in Franklin County near Columbus as Big Walnut Creek spilled over its banks. Some took refuge with friends in Columbus.

Occupants of 30 trailers engulfed by six-foot flood waters from Mill Creek were rescued in fire department boats at Garfield Heights, a Cleveland suburb.

The highest waters in 12 years raced over O'Shaughnessy Dam and flooded Columbus Zoo where horned and hoofed animals stood in water two feet deep. Boxes were placed in cages of smaller animals to keep them high and dry.

The Scioto River cut two roads in Marion County today following a 2.5-inch rainfall from noon Sunday to 7 P. M. last night.

The roads covered were state routes 203 north of Prospect and 95 west of Larue.

Waters moving down from north on Franklin County in the Scioto, Olentangy and Big Walnut were swelled by steady downpours in and around the capital Monday.

The weatherman forecast some relief today with a promise of cloudy and cooler weather and a lull in the steady rains that have turned the state into a quagmire and caused untold damage to crops.

A near-cloudburst hit low areas near Delaware and the state highway patrol alerted residents to be ready for quick evacuation. The

Circus Aerialist Hits Wire in Fall

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 3—(AP)—A guy wire which broke a 40-foot fall today was credited with saving the life of a young circus aerialist who plunged to the ground before a large crowd of horrified spectators after a misstep in his act.

The aerialist, Melvin Bennett, 19, of Masury, O., a performer for the Wallace and Murray show, is a patient in Rochester General Hospital suffering a back injury and brash burns. Hospital attaches said his condition was "satisfactory."

First reports were that the plunge killed the young aerialist. The accident occurred as the show completed a one-week stand in Rochester.

President to Attend Reunion Of Old Army Outfit This Week

KANSAS CITY, June 3—(AP)—Veterans of the 35th infantry division, with President Harry S. Truman among them, will reunite here Thursday to relieve their war experiences and to help build a hospital for a French town they liberated in World War II.

All the money they spend for fun in their first post-war reunion is going into a fund for a new hospital for St. Lo, the town recaptured by the 35th and the breakthrough point of the allied drive out of the Norman Peninsula after bloody Omaha beach.

The mayor of St. Lo, Georges Pierre Lavalley, flew all the way from Paris to be here for the division's three-day post mortem "out of gratitude to the heroic men of the 35th who helped liberate my city from the Nazis."

The 35th, historically a national guard outfit from the middle west, fought at St. Lo, the battle of the bulge in the second World War and at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne in the first. Some 150,000 men have served with it since it was organized in 1917.

Its association leaders spent 14 months organizing this week's reunion and enlisted the help of one of their World War I field artillery captains, President Truman, as well as General Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

Mr. Truman, who played an important part in the division's assault on Varquois Hill in France in 1918, is scheduled to speak Saturday night at memorial services honoring the 35th's dead of the two World Wars.

Self-Rule for India Agreed to by Britain

By ED CREAUGH

LONDON, June 3—(AP)—Britain promised today to hand over power in India to the Indians this year—under a temporary dominion status which appeared to make inevitable the partition of the country into Hindu and Moslem states.

The Indians themselves are to decide whether they will have one or two governments.

Partition was the principal theme of the new British Indian policy, announced simultaneously to the Indian people and in both houses of the British Parliament after acceptance by rival Indian political leaders.

The Indian leaders advised the viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, in New Delhi today that they would divide the country between Moslems and non-Moslems and take over power from the British as peacefully as possible.

Politicians in New Delhi predicted that, when tempers and tension were calmed, both the Hindu state and the Moslem state might ask to remain in the British commonwealth of nations.

Prime Minister Attlee, announcing the new plan in the House of Commons, said it had been "favorably received" by the Indian leaders, leaving little doubt that the offer for splitting of the country would be accepted and acted upon.

The viceroy told the Indian people of the plan in a broadcast. Lord Listowell, the Indian secretary, made the announcement in the house of Lords. A white paper was issued in the subject.

Until the absolute withdrawal of the British, scheduled for July of 1948, India will be composed of (Continued from Page Two)

Woman's Body Found in Barrel

PHILADELPHIA, June 3—(AP)—Police were confronted today with one of their most baffling mysteries following the discovery of a blonde woman's body in an oil barrel in a secluded ravine.

The corpse was wrapped in a May 7 newspaper, padded with sawdust and doubled up in the discarded 50-gallon metal drum.

A bath towel from an Atlantic

City hotel, a dark raincoat, a full set of woman's clothing and a heavy cardboard lining also were in the barrel.

The discovery was made late yesterday by a junk dealer in an eight-foot ditch in northeast Philadelphia, only a short distance from a cemetery. Her identity has not been established.

Anti-trust Conspiracy Scented Behind Serious Boxcar Shortage

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—Attorney General Clark said today he has asked a grand jury to investigate alleged violations of the antitrust laws in the railway freight car building industry.

Clark said in a statement that "certain corporations and individuals" are alleged to have engaged in restraints of trade and violations of the anti-trust laws but mentioned no names.

His announcement comes after an acute freight car shortage in the country for many months.

The justice department said that subpoenas are being issued for the production for a District of Columbia grand jury, of certain documents and records of the freight car building companies, railway and car building trade associations and others.

"This action," Clark said, "is the result of investigation by the federal bureau of investigation of complaints that railway freight car building companies have entered into agreements with each other to fix non-competitive prices for freight cars built by them for railroads and other purchasers, and have allocated prospective railway freight car manufacturing business among the various companies in the industry according to percentage quotas assigned to various members of the industry.

"From that investigation it appears that four freight car building companies have in recent years secured approximately 80 percent of the freight car building business."

Congressional committees have conducted lengthy investigations of the shortage of freight cars.

The senate shouted approval of its own measure after hearing Chairman Tobey (R-NH) of the banking committee, which sent the bill to the floor, say it had been so riddled by amendments as to be ineffective.

Tobey voted for a substitute proposed by Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) which would have extended present controls without any modification through June 30, 1948. The Taylor substitute was knocked down by a 58 to 16 vote.

Tobey attacked in particular a provision, similar to one written into the house-approved bill, for permissive increases up to 15 percent where landlord and tenant agree on a lease carrying through 1948.

The house-approved bill knocks out housing expediter Frank Creedon's office entirely and leaves the determination of the agency to administer rent control up to the president.

The senate adopted a provision knocking out most controls over building materials and new housing.

It did, however, leave with the housing expediter authority to prevent the use of materials in amusement and recreation building, and to give his authority to require permits for commercial (Please Turn to Page Two)

Slash in Levy On Incomes Has OK of Congress

Building Controls And Rent Ceilings Become Hot Issues

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—Congress bats the $4,000,000,000 tax-slashing bill to the White House today to see if it's going to bounce.

Speculation on a possible presidential veto echoed through the capitol as the senate made ready to stamp its final approval on the measure introduced as house bill No. 1 when Republicans took control of congress last January.

There seemed to be general agreement that the senate would sustain Mr. Truman if he chooses to disapprove the Republican-backed bill. But the White House was silent.

The house by a 220 to 99 vote yesterday gave its blessing to the compromise legislation which would cut taxes beginning July 1 by a scale ranging from 30 percent on the smallest taxable incomes to 10.5 percent on the largest ones.

The thumping house vote was well over the two-thirds needed to override a veto, if one is forthcoming.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the house ways and means committee, author of the bill, said "I firmly believe that he will allow the No. 1 to become law."

Mr. Truman has said repeatedly that congress should put emphasis now on federal debt reduction not tax cutting. However, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told the ways and means committee last month that the time for tax relief "is approaching."

Rent and Building
Senator Buck (R-Del) said today a disagreement over restrictions on building may be the chief stumbling block to final Congressional action on rent controls.

Buck heads the senate conferees who will attempt to resolve differences between the bill the senate passed yesterday and one approved earlier by the house.

Both extend rent controls beyond June 30 without a general increase in ceilings. There are, however, a number of differences.

The senate shouted approval of its own measure after hearing Chairman Tobey (R-NH) of the banking committee, which sent the bill to the floor, say it had been so riddled by amendments as to be ineffective.

Tobey voted for a substitute proposed by Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) which would have extended present controls without any modification through June 30, 1948. The Taylor substitute was knocked down by a 58 to 16 vote.

Dairy Service Unit May Be Operated Here

Sanitarian Discusses Plans for Change Considered

With milk production in Fayette County lower than in most of the surrounding counties, the Health Department is helping to investigate the possibility of creating a dairy service unit here to provide for artificial insemination of dairy cows, for increasing milk production.

During April, meeting was held under the sponsorship of the County Extension Service when a number of veterans taking agricultural course and farmers interested gathered to discuss artificial insemination of dairy cows.

Dr. William Bolton, county sanitarian, said that transportation is the biggest problem in such an association. In outlining the set-up of such a group, Dr. Bolton said that a board of directors would head the association. Each farmer who wished to use the service would sign up the number of cows on his farm and pay a fee of $5 for each cow. The minimum number of cows in each association is 1,500, said Dr. Bolton.

He also said that each cow will be tested on its milk and the better cows bred with bulls whose milk index is good. In this way, he pointed out, the heifer calves produced will produce more milk than any others in a herd.

Dr. Bolton said that a 1940 survey showed Fayette County to be well below counties as Madison and Clinton which have such Dairy Service Units and Dairy Herd Improvement Associations. In 1940, the average per cow milk production was 5,000, which is the bare minimum for a milk cow. There were 5,600 milk cows in Fayette County at the time and 12,800 in Highland County.

Dr. Bolton said that an artificial insemination plan would increase milk production considerably. He emphasized the importance of increased production of good Grade A and B milk, saying that only 18 percent of the producers are selling this top quality milk. During the war, he pointed out, the department allowed 20 percent of the milk sold to be ungraded, however, since the end of the war, it has been necessary to eliminate these producers, leaving the milk resources at a low ebb. He said that when winter comes, it will be necessary to fall back on these producers unless some increase is made.

He said that the effects of such a unit would be felt immediately in the county since farmers would tend to keep only the highest milk producing cows in their herd for breeding.

Churchill said a "blood bath" for India "may stand very near." NEY DELHI, June 3—(AP)—Rival Indian leaders advised the victory today they would divide the vast country between Moslems and non-Moslems and take over power from the British as peacefully as they knew how.

This would mean the creation of two nations, each among the largest in the world in population. But in resources, it meant the creation of one relatively powerful nation composed mostly of Hindus and one far less powerful nation containing the vast bulk of the Moslem population of India.

Leaders of both major political factions had yet to submit their agreements to their huge party memberships for approval. But the leadership of both the all-India national congress party and the Moslem league has been so powerful in recent years that all recommendations have been approved with little difficulty.

Red Influence

said today Hungarian representatives abroad, including Aladar Szekedy-Maszk, minister at Washington, would be recalled in the near future by the new communist-dominated Hungarian government.

The diplomats are to "report to the government," the informants said. Developments in the Hungarian political situation moved swiftly. It was announced that the new premier, Lajos Dinnyes, the left-wing small holder, had chosen two communists to head his office's press department.

Rumors circulated without confirmation, that Minister of the Interior Laszlo Rajik, a communist who several times has threatened to expel the foreign press, planned finally to do so when the Hungarian peace treaty was ratified.

It was announced that the political committee of the small holders party, on communist insistence, had formed a subcommittee of five to study the past—"after liberation"—of party members, with the ultimate aim of purging those who are "standing in the way of progress."

Small holder informants said that considerable records under after liberation, under the present setup, probably would purge automatically those who fought the Germans in the Hungarian underground.

Wednesday Last Day To Enroll

The last opportunity for the next 12 months to enroll in the Blue Cross Hospital Plan will be Wednesday when final applications for Fayette County will be taken, officials said Tuesday.

Representatives of the plan, who have temporary offices in the First Federal Savings and Loan Building, said that the response to the three-day drive here has been excellent. They also extended their appreciation to the Business and Professional Women's Club here, which has sponsored the drive.

They emphasized that this opportunity to enroll will not be given again until next year at this time.

Grain Markets

CHICAGO, June 3—(AP)—Grain futures bounded upward on the Board of Trade today, moving sharply in response to renewed government buying and reports of unfavorable weather in the corn belt.

The ticker tape barely moved during the first hour in which volume of 100,000 shares duplicated the low for this period since last July. Motors and steels came to the fore with a slight pickup in activity.

NEW YORK, June 3—(AP)—Selected stocks took on a mild recovery tinge today although buying still was exceptionally timid.

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—There'll be much talk now but don't expect the sore subject of universal service to be settled this year.

(Universal service is the nice language people in Washington use when they mean compulsory military training for young men.)

Talk of such a program was revived with a big bang over the holiday weekend. It can't happen until, or unless, congress passes a law.

But congress, which wants to quit for 1947 by August 1, is already loaded down with work without tackling this problem.

There's been talk of compulsory training for the past two years but this is how it broke about again over the weekend:

A special commission, created by President Truman six months ago to study the subject, last night made its report.

The report recommended about a year of military training for young men. It said we need trained men in case of a "sneak" atomic attack.

Altogether, the commission outlined eight steps, including compulsory training, which it thinks should be taken for national defense.

Last Friday a group of Republican senators issued a statement of their own, saying they were making a study of the whole problem of national defense.

This statement, like the report of the president's commission, listed eight steps which should be considered in setting up a national defense program.

(It didn't mention universal training or compulsory training. The statement was vague on that score.)

When will the Republicans' full study, which seem to be paralleling that of the president's commission, be ready?

Sometime before congress goes home for the summer, probably.

One of the Republicans, Senator Dworshak of Idaho, said a staff of senators' assistants has been working on the study three or four months.

(They apparently started work a couple of months after the president's commission started its work.)

Since it seems certain congress can't do anything about either study until 1948, which is a presidential election year, this writer asked Dworshak:

"Do you think compulsory military training may be a campaign issue in 1948?"

The senator said: "No. No one could let his country's welfare, the national defense, get involved in politics."

Concrete Is Like Highball; Now It's Mixed, Iced and All

By HAL BOYLE
MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 3—(AP)—They pour concrete like martinis now in building dams.

The old days of shovel mixing are gone, and to operate a modern concrete mixer it would be a good idea first to learn how to play a pipe organ. That's how complicated the control panel is.

They are building a $22,000,000 dam and powerhouse across the Grand (or Neosho) River 12 miles northeast of here near the site of old Fort Gibson, an historic outpost in pioneer days. The dam will take four years to build. It will help control floods in the Arkansas river basin, eventually furnish 180,700 kilowatt hours of electrical power annually, and create a great reservoir lined with recreational parks and wildlife refuges.

Any housewife would get a kick out of inspecting the new gadget they've got to mix the 461,300 cubic yards of concrete needed to construct the dam, which will be 110 feet high and 2,850 feet long.

Like a modern cake batter mixer, it is electrically operated. But it is much more complicated. It looks pretty much like a Rube Goldberg model of a cocktail shaker on a giant scale.

It's a 70-foot high contraption costing about $225,000.

The materials used in making the concrete—sand, gravel and cobbles of different sizes—are stored in eight bins down the road a bit which hold 400 tons. Beneath the bins runs a six-hundred foot tunnel. A conveyor belt goes from the tunnel to the top of the mixer.

By pressing a button an electric signal flashes to a man in the tunnel just what type of material is needed and it is dropped on to a moving rubber-covered conveyor belt. It travels to the top of the automatic mixer and is dumped into the proper vat.

By manipulating buttons on the control board the operator can funnel down different type concretes into the four rotating concrete mixers below, each of which holds two cubic yards.

"That's a four-ton highball in each mixer," said Oscar S. McCormick, Minneapolis contractor. Like any good highball it's properly cooled—125 pounds of shaved ice goes into the making of each cubic yard of concrete. The cement is fed into the mix from a tall silo standing beside the chief structure.

The mixer has one feature any housewife would appreciate. If there is more or less than the proper weight of any ingredient in the vats, warning lights flash on the control board.

The mixer has one feature any housewife would appreciate. If there is more or less than the proper weight of any ingredient

The control panel also has a moving roll of paper like a player piano on which sixteen pens record the amount of each ingredient, the time, and the temperature. Each batch is timed more accurately than a three-minute egg.

The machine is big and costly, but seven men can turn out eight cubic yards of concrete every two minutes with it under ideal conditions. Smaller machines fed by hand shovellers take more men and produce only one cubic yard every three minutes.

But so fast are engineering developments coming that its operators said it is already obsolete. I asked Bob McCormick, the contractor's son, what would be done with the mixer when the dam was finished.

"I think," he said, "we'll just turn it into a still."

But most Oklahomans—the state is legally dry—would object on the grounds that most of their local whisky has enough concrete flavor already.

Three Show Horses Reported Poisoned

PORTSMOUTH, June 3—(AP)—Three show horses, valued at between $22,000 and $27,000 were found dead today in their stalls at Scioto County fairgrounds and a veterinarian said they had been poisoned.

Dr. William A. Hirsh of Chillicothe, the veterinarian, did not disclose immediately how the animals were poisoned.

Nine horses owned by Dr. O. O. Burt of Londonderry in Ross County were stabled at the fairgrounds, 12 miles north of Portsmouth, awaiting shipment to a show at Georgetown, O., next week. Six of the horses were unharmed today.

Hungary's Credit Ordered Held Up

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today ordered suspension of an unused half of a $30,000,000 credit to Hungary, where a pro-Communist regime has been set up with Russian support.

In a statement Marshall also said the United States "wishes every success" for the new non-Communist Italian regime formed by Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi.

Marshall promised Italy aid would be given.

SURE there's cream in every drop—it's our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk she's drinking. Not only smoother, creamier-tasting than regular milk, but more nourishing. Every quart contains 400 U. S. P. units of Vitamin D, the recommended minimum daily amount for growing children and expectant and nursing mothers.

Growing children particularly can make good use of our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk for developing strong bones and teeth. Our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk forms a soft curd that is readily digested, a fact that makes our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk very suitable for feeding infants and young children.

Yet, unlike other vitamins needed for adequate nutrition, Vitamin D is the only one not found in significant amounts in the "Basic 7" food groups listed in the government food charts.

Because it is easy to obtain and pleasant to drink, our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk offers a convenient and inexpensive way to get your daily supply of Vitamin D. Order our Homogenized Vitamin D Milk now.

Congress Represents The People

Recently the governors of most of the far western states met and jointly denounced the action of the house in heavily reducing appropriations for the reclamation bureau which would have largely been used for the construction of tax-exempt government electric generating plants and related facilities. The governors announced that they would make a concerted demand on congress to restore the funds to their original figure, on the grounds that the future welfare and industrial development of the West is at stake.

Here is a perfect example of why economy in government has become so difficult a goal to achieve. The plain and ominous fact is that we have come to look on the federal treasury as a bottomless pit which may be raided at will for any region's pet projects. All of us are strongly in favor of a reduced budget—so long as budget reductions don't affect us. Governors, senators, representatives, mayors and a host of minor officials shriek to high heaven whenever a nickel is sliced from an appropriation for their states and towns.

Another plain and ominous fact is that we have lost local independence and local self reliance. We want the federal government to spend billions for purposes which are clearly within the provinces of local government or of private business enterprise. And thus, we are surely and swiftly building a supergovernment with all the threats to freedom and independence that supergovernment inevitably implies.

It is senseless to blame congress for waste and prodigality when the people at home who cast the votes demand a continuation of unnecessary spending. Congress simply represents a distillation of the voice of the people. In the long run, the people are given what they ask for—and it is the people who must choose between supergovernment, whose end is always some form of dictatorship, or our constitutional government of limited powers with its firm guarantees of maximum freedom for all.

Bringing A Lesson Home

World Trade Week has come and gone, but it is hoped its effect will last through the other 51 weeks of the year, and carry over into many years to come. The object of its observance was to emphasize for all Americans the fact that world trade is a two way business: that other countries can't buy from our manufacturers unless this country buys foreign products. It was an effort at building practical, tangible bulwarks for peace.

The idea fires the imagination, broadens horizons, pushes beyond constricting nationalisms. American business with products to sell abroad, other-country manufacturers with things the United States needs, all helped.

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — Col. Arthur B. Morrill, a tall, silver-haired American sanitary engineer, gets a kick out of passing you his business card.

He marks the top of one side of it with his pen to show you the way to read it—if you can read Chinese. Business cards in China are indispensable, he tells you.

Turn it over. The legend in English says that Arthur B. Morrill is sanitary engineer director, U. S. Public Health Service, on detail to the government of China, Cultural Relations program, Department of State.

Col. Morrill was back after two years' roaming about China promoting health and progress through modern water and sewerage systems.

Sanitary engineering has been at a standstill in China for 10 years, he says.

One case of cholera in this country would upset the U. S. Public Health Service. But in Changsha, in Hunan province, there were 200 cases. Changsha, a town of 420,000, considered it

Hints on Etiquette

When you send out an invitation to a wedding anniversary celebration, the date of the wedding and the present year should be written or stamped at the top of the invitation.

Today's Horoscope

The easiest path is the one you pursue. You are independent, have originality and a fair amount of ambition, but your love of ease and comfort deters you from greater success of which you are capable. You are moody and often depressed. You love deeply and faithfully. The day is doubtful. Efforts are not likely to meet with success on this date. The birthday anniversary brings good fortune, secret matters being especially well signified. Spiritual subjects interest you, and your intellectual faculties expand. Born on this date, a child will be straightforward, honest, outspoken, generous philosophical, quickly detecting the weak points in others. He or she will be inspirational, prophetic and generally fortunate.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. The act of accenting; giving to the several notes of a piece their proper emphasis or expression.

2. Accelerating the time; gradually increasing flowing easily, steadily and gracefully.

3. A movement played in moderate time, but flowing easily, steadily and gracefully, the velocity of movement.

tric executives are touring America for special machinery. China wants hospital equipment, is sending attractive hooked rugs made of wool from its sheep.

It's an easy step to the fact that in war time all such exchange of goods, such inter-country traveling, was stopped by embargoes, ocean mines and the need for shipping guns. It becomes apparent that there is adventure possible in peace time. The world, freed from war, becomes a fascinating place.

Influential Books

What are the 100 most influential American books, at least before 1900? The Grolier Club, a New York society of book collectors, has been brave enough to list them, and has had the even greater courage to include fiction. "Ragged Dick" by Horatio Alger is here, to the delight of the millions who were brought up on Alger's stories of ordinary boys who rose to achievement through their pluck and talents. So too is Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women," which still delights girls and grown-ups.

The list starts with the Bay Psalm Book of 1640, the first book printed in English North America, a copy of which was lately sold for a price running into six figures. Noah Webster's Dictionary is here, and the original proclamation of the Monroe Doctrine. So too are the "Book of Mormon," the "Emancipation Proclamation," Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward" and Mrs. Lincoln's Boston Cook Book. Certainly all these books left their mark on American life.

Anyone criticising such a list should be challenged to make a better. Yet, even though the committee decided that it was not an American book, no one could name a title of greater influence on Americans than the Bible.

Keep an eye on the boys. Two seventeen year old lads in Evansville, Ind., have been given life sentences on a charge of slaying two policemen. What are parents doing while such boys are growing up? Children aren't born bad.

Judging from the vandalism in this country, a lot of us Americans must have come down by direct descent from the famous Goths, Huns and Vandals of ancient history.

The worst of it about those pesky Russians is that they seem as sure about being right as we are.

Isn't it sort o' silly, the way birds are acting these days? Also a lot of people?

The Baby Born a Cretin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SPEED regulator of all the body's activities is the thyroid gland. Located in the neck, this gland secretes the substance which not only determines growth, but also sets the basic pace for all vital processes.

Now and then a child is born with a lack or not enough of this secretion. Such children grow very slowly both physically and mentally and are known as cretins. At first the baby may appear to be normal but a doctor's experienced eye will note that its tongue is unusually large and that it nurses feebly. These are often the first signs that cretinism is present. Later, of course, it will be apparent in the failure to grow properly.

Proper Treatment

But here is good news. If this condition is properly treated, or if the thyroid gland begins to form enough of its secretion, all of the evidence of the previous deficiency may disappear except—perhaps, the child may be under normal height and may be slightly backward mentally.

During the proper treatment with thyroid extract, the growth of the bones may go on rapidly enough so that the child may reach normal height for his age. Few cretins, however, attain normal intelligence, but the earlier treatment for the condition is begun, the better will be the outcome.

Giving Thyroid Extract

As I have mentioned, the treatment is the giving of thyroid extract. Of course the dosage must be carefully regulated by the physician.

If there is some doubt as to whether or not the child's difficulty is due to deficiency, thyroid extract may be given to see if it is producing any benefits. But we must not forget that if too much thyroid extract is given, the child becomes irritable and nervous.

Primary Objective

The primary objective in the treatment is to bring back the normal growth rate. A good way to check on the treatment is to determine the amount of a substance known as cholesterol in the blood. If enough thyroid extract is used, and then is stopped, the amount of cholesterol in the blood rises to too high a level.

According to Dr. Lewis M. Huxthal and Dr. Natalija Musulin of Boston, Mass., if the child is receiving thyroid, it may be a good plan to stop it from time to time and then to determine if the amount of cholesterol in the blood increases. If this happens, the thyroid extract should be started again and continued.

Of course, in the case of cretins, careful handling of the patient by the physician is necessary.

AROUND THE CORNER

Around the corner I have a friend,
In this great city that has no end;
Yet days go by, and weeks rush on,
And before I know it a year has gone,
And I never see my old friend's face,
For life is a swift and terrible race.
He knows I like him just as well
As in the days when I rang his bell
And he rang mine. We were younger then,
And now we are busy tired men:
Tired with playing a foolish game,
Tired with trying to make a name.
"Tomorrow," I say, "I will call on Jim,
Just to show that I'm thinking of him."
But to-morrow comes—and to-morrow goes,
And the distance between us grows and grows.
Around the corner!—yet miles away.
"Here's a telegram, sir..."
"Jim died to-day."
And that's what we get, and deserve in the end:
Around the corner, a vanished friend.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

BILL WENT out to the living room with Doctor Everts. Diane heard them talking there, heard the door close behind the doctor. Then Bill came back. "I am going to telephone to Mother. She'll come over. In spite of how you feel about it, she'll have to be told now, of your condition!"

Diane only nodded her head in answer, closed her eyes. The doctor had given her a sedative; let Bill think it was beginning to work.

He called his mother. He went out to the dinette. Diane heard the rattle of dishes, the run of water in the kitchen sink.

But the look on his face stayed with her. Frightened, weak tears slipped down her cheeks to the pillow. "I'll tell him—I wouldn't have gotten on that horse if I'd dreamed—of course I wouldn't—but, oh, Bill, why don't you know that, without my saying so?"

After a little she did drift off to sleep.

She awakened to a room dark except for a shaft of light that came in from the hall. Mrs. Arden was tiptoeing across it.

Diane lifted herself on one elbow. "What time is it?"

"Almost three o'clock."

"You've stayed—"

"I insisted on staying. Bill is beside himself with anxiety. He's just fallen asleep now on theavenport. Is the pain better?"

Diane said: "Yes," dropped back on her pillow.

"I'll bring you some warm milk. Perhaps you'll sleep again."

Mrs. Arden tiptoed out to the kitchen.

Diane lay frowning into the darkness. The pain was gone, but a rebellion almost as sharp was beginning to stir in her. While she slept Bill had told his mother what had happened. She pictured his mother's face taking on Bill's sternness.

"And it isn't any of her affair that I'm sorry I did it, if it's going to hurt the baby! It's only Bill's!"

Mrs. Arden came back with the warm milk and gave it to Diane. She smoothed the pillow and the bedcovers, competently, as impersonally, Diane thought, as a trained nurse, went softly out of the room.

Diane slept again.

"Is the pain better?"

It was the next morning and Bill, by her bed, asking her: "Mother'll stay here today. You'll keep very quiet?"

Oh, Bill, not that tone!

Aloud, she answered: "Yes." Then, a little desperately: "But, Bill, your mother doesn't need to! I'll be all right! Linda will come in, if you leave word in the basement—"

"I prefer that Mother should be here," Bill said and turned away.

Mrs. Arden came in with some coffee and toast.

"Is the pain better?"

Diane checked an impulse to scream out a protest.

"Yes, really it's gone. I think it was just that I was scared. It's silly to stay in bed!"

"Oh, no, Diane!" Mrs. Arden spoke firmly. "It's very necessary to take every precaution the doctor orders."

She put the tray down on the table beside Diane's bed. "I will be in the living room if you want anything."

Diane appealed to Doctor Everts when he came but, smiling and suave, he shook his head. "Three days at least, little lady, and then we'll see."

It would be three days before she could say it to Bill! Before he would let her! Now he only came to the side of her bed, asked her how she felt, went away. Mrs. Arden brought her trays, magazines, toilet things, spoke when she spoke, in a voice which, Diane fancied, guarded the reproach she wanted to utter, went out of the room.

And Diane felt increasingly like a person convicted, with sentence waiting until the full extent of her crime was determined. And increasingly rebellious.

Doctor Everts came early on the morning of the fourth day. Bill had stayed at the apartment to hear what he had to say.

He said, genially, patting Diane's hand: "You're a very lucky girl!"

"I can get up?" Diane asked it as eagerly as though that was all that counted.

"Yes. Only, from now on, you keep in your saddle—"

Bill went out of the room with him. Mrs. Arden came in. She put an arm around Diane and kissed her; Diane felt tears on her cheek. "Oh, my dear, I am so happy! I haven't dared to say it, to think of it until now, now that there's no danger! I shall hurry home to tell Bill's father! Bill must bring you over for dinner tonight—"

Bill said from the door: "I'll drive you home, Mother."

"You'll be back?" Diane asked Bill quickly, her glance appealing.

But he had turned away. "Yes," he said over his shoulder.

Mrs. Arden kissed Diane again and followed Bill. After a few moments Diane heard the outer door close behind them.

She began to dress, her fingers fumbling with nervousness, her heart beating violently. She could say it to Bill, when he came back, say it in his arms. More than that, she regretted this that had happened. She must make him understand this feeling she had of never quite reaching him, that he must help her—

She was standing in the window of the living room when he came in. She had just turned her back on the portrait of the first Judge

2,414 Books Loaned Schools By Library Here

Check on Service To County System Is Completed

Tallying the number of books circulated throughout the county schools from the Carnegie Public Library here, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, announced Tuesday that a total of 2,414 books had been loaned to the 15 county schools.

She also said that these books circulated a total of 16,517 times from September to June. She broke this figure down, showing that the circulation from September, October, November and December was 7,788, while the January circulation was 8,729.

During the whole year, Miss Hattie Pinkerton, who is visiting teacher and attendance officer for the county schools, took the books out to the schools and brought them back. Those schools which received books were Bloomingburg, Bookwalter, Chaffin, Conner, Eber, Good Hope, Jeffersonville, Madison Mills, Marion, Milledgeville, Olive, New Martinsburg, Staunton, Wilson and Yatesville.

Miss Pinkerton also took books out to individual students who were doing work in a special field, such as medicine, nursing and mechanics. Miss Johnson said that these books were charged to each child's own card at the library and these books were not counted with those which were circulated at the schools. Miss Pinkerton also took professional books to teachers.

The books were taken out during September, October, November and December and brought back slowly beginning in January. Books were taken out as fast as possible to supplement the reading done.

The check which is kept on the circulation of these books enables the library and the school to see where additional emphasis is needed on reading or subject matter. This check also helps them to discover where the children's interests lie and how the books available can be supplemented adequately, Miss Johnson said.

Miss Johnson said that the library is planning to give more service next year, when a more intensive study of foreign country will be made. She pointed out that there have been a number of interferences in the service this year due principally to lack of help and weather conditions.

Two Are Held For Stabbings

IRONTON, June 3—(P)—Two men were held in Lawrence County jail today following two stabbings, one of which resulted in a fatality Saturday night.

Sheriff Milton Rucker reported William Scotts of Ironton was held without charge in the fatal stabbing of Homer Gallaher, 44, of Ashland, Ky.

The sheriff said he also was holding without charge Buster Brannigan, 17, in connection with the stabbing of Harry Boggs of Ironton, owner of the Sportsmen's Bowling Alley at Ashland, Ky. Boggs was reported in a critical condition at General Hospital here.

Boy Is Rescued From Ditch Flood

DAYTON, June 3—(P)—Quick action by two Wright Field lieutenants saved three and a half year old Guenther Boccius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walther Boccius of Osborn, from drowning today. Mrs. Boccius, whose husband is one of the German scientists now working at Wright Field, said the boy fell into a rain swollen drainage ditch at the head of their home.

The child floated through a maze of ditches and pipes for

Sorority Holds Initiation Tea On Sunday

The lovely country home of Mrs. M. Grove Davis, decorated with summer flowers throughout, was the attractive setting for the Phi Beta Psi Sorority tea, held on Sunday, June 1, between the hours of three and five, honoring pledges. Miss Suzanne Willis, Miss Betty Cook, Mrs. William Limes and Mrs. Carroll Halliday.

The impressive initiation service was held by candlelight, conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Hire, before an improvised altar in the living room.

Mrs. Hire also presided at the silver service at the beautifully appointed tea table, in the dining room, centered with an arrangement of lemon lilies, lavender iris and pansies, flanked with ivory tapers in crystal candelabra. A dainty color scheme of pink and white was used, in the tempting tea delicacies consisting of an ice cake and mints, and was enjoyed during the informal hour of visiting by the forty members present.

Mrs. Davis was assisted in the hostesses by Mrs. Otis Core, Mrs. Ervin Miller, Misses Kathleen Davis, Dorothy Anne Jones, and Helen Simons.

Handicap Golf Tournament on At Country Club with 128 Entries

The annual handicap golf tournament is on at the Country Club with 128 golfers listed to tee off in their matches for the first round within a week.

The handicaps have been assigned and the pairings made by the club pro, Tony Capuana. Many of the entrants are behind this year because the rains and backward spring weather have prevented all but the most hearty from getting in much practice.

But, the handicaps, calculated on a par basis from the scores that have been turned in, are designed to level off all differences and, theoretically at least, put everyone on even terms. The better the golfer, the lower the handicap.

Starting on schedule on June 1, some of the matches were played Sunday in spite of the high wind that discouraged so many.

After the first week of play, the big field will be cut in two by the simple process of elimination. That keeps up until it is narrowed down to the two who will battle it out for the championship and the crown won last year by Bill Landrum.

A veteran of more than three years of war in the Pacific, Bill is now going to school and is not expected to be able to defend his title.

Club and USGA rules will govern the tournament play. Matches are over the 18-hole route.

Here is the way the 64 two-somes will tee off for the first matches:

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 3—(P)—For the last 20 years or so, one of the summer's better golf tournaments hereabouts has been the Jess Sweetser victory cup event at the Siwanoy Club. . . . That commemorates the first American triumph in the British amateur championship and gives a lot of golfers a chance to spend a pleasant day chasing a ball around the links and a night beating their gums about old times—the principal reasons for golf. . . . Now it might be a good idea to set up a Turnesa Chapman tourney in honor of the first all American finale in Britain. . . . And how about a Bobby Jones grand slam tournament before Bobby's great feat is lost in the mists of time? . . . And right now the pros probably would like to stage a send-Bobby-Locke-back-home tournament and raise enough dough to pay Bobby's fare to South Africa. Locke hasn't left them much, what with winning four to six tourneys and something over $8,000 since April.

OH, YEAH?

When Val De Fazio, young outfielder for the Albuquerque, N. M., team in the west Texas-New Mexico league, broke a leg recently sliding into a base, he wasn't surprised that Lamesa, Tex., fans chipped in to help pay his expenses. . . . The Lamesa folks have contributed to a lot of things. . . . But when the collection was presented and De Fazio learned that the league's umpire-in-chief, Neal Rabe, has contributed five bucks, Val promised he'd never again beef at a decision. . . . Wonder how long long he'll keep that promise?

Studies First In Big Nine Now

CHICAGO, June 3—(P)—Big Nine athletes who fail their studies no longer will get a "second chance" with make-up examinations to become scholastically eligible to compete in varsity sports.

Conference faculty representatives handed down this decision in concluding a three-day meeting Saturday. Specifically, their ruling was that members (principally Illinois) which permit make-up examinations for failing athletes, may not use such athletes in conference competition for one term or semester.

Races at Randall Run Through Mud And in Dense Fog

CLEVELAND, June 3—(P)—Despite a flooded track and an unofficial "strike" of several jockeys, horses at nearby North Randall Park waded through fog and mud to complete the regulation eight races of a weird program yesterday.

After a siege of withdrawals by jockeys fearful of taking a bath on the flooded strip and scratching of several entries by owners, stewards of the track "laid down the law" in time to prevent a complete washout—while 3,000 patrons battled the pari-mutuel iron men to the bitter end.

Adding to the general confusion, a couple of races were run in fog so thick that the expert callers were unable to follow the bangtails, and the electric power was disrupted after the first event, causing a blackout of the odds board.

Softball Opener Postponed Again

It's the same old monotonous and aggravating story: Rain, no game tonight.

With the City Softball League opener washed out Monday night, Fred Pierson, the recreational director, superfluously announced that Tuesday night's scheduled game between the Armbrust and Morton outfits would have to be postponed, too.

The mud of Wilson Field and the chilly air put the blocks to the league start for a second time led Pierson to observe with a wry grin that the outlook for the entire first week of the schedule was about as dark as the overcast.

Legion Hurler Fans Seven in Three Innings

If the sample is anything like the real thing, the batters in the City Softball League are in for some rough going—if the rain lets up so play can get started.

For, it looks like the Hughey Post of the American Legion has uncovered a twirler who has something on the ball.

In a practice game Sunday at London, only nine batters faced Bob Cronk in the three innings played before the rain halted the festivities. Of those nine, Cronk whiffed seven, and made the assist for one of the other easy put-outs at first.

Bob, who made Washington C. H. his home about two months ago and joined the Legion, has been pitching softball for about ten years. A salesman for the P. F. Volland Publishing Co., he was in the army nearly four years. He was a first sergeant and spent most of his time testing Army Air Forces equipment.

Incidentally, the Washington C. H. veterans were ahead 1 to 0 when the game was called.

sky. He added, philosophically: "It'll quit raining some day. . . . and then we can play. . . ."

Disservice with a Smile

CHICAGO—(P)—A pair of grinning gunmen who took $500 from David Rumack's clothing store came back ten days later, greeted the proprietor with a cheerful "We're back again," snatched $210 and left with a good-natured promise to "See you again soon."

Rock cutting tools were used in Egypt 6,000 years ago.

Floods in Ohio

Oleantangy at Delaware rose to 11-25 feet, 2.25 feet above flood stage Monday, but Robert O'Brian, general chairman of the disaster unit of the American Red Cross here, said reports to him disclosed there was no immediate danger.

Routes 36 and 37 east of Delaware were flooded as well as 521 northeast of the city, 315 from Straford to Wilson Bridge road just north of 161, and 257 north of O'Shaughnessy Dam.

Many main highways and important connecting roads were closed by one to three feet of water, principally in Miami, Logan, Shelby and Darke Counties, the state highway patrol reported.

Ohio farmers faced the deadline for corn planting. County farm agents in the Miami Valley said corn must be planted by the end of next week or the crop would be ruined. They pointed out that fields would remain in an unworkable condition for at least a week even if no more rain fell. Besides the corn crop, the continued heavy rains were reported to have damaged alfalfa, tomato, tobacco, wheat and oats crops.

Reds Knock Giants Out of Lead And Hand Hartung First Defeat

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)

Dave (Boo) Ferriss may yet realize his ambition of joining Wes Ferrell, former star Cleveland right-hander, as the only pitchers ever to win 20 or more games in each of their first four years in the majors.

The Boston Red Sox right-hander, who established an American League mark for pitchers in 1946 when he won 46 games in his first two seasons in the big time, is still two years away from the mark.

Ferriss yesterday gave up only seven and whipped the Chicago White Sox 6-2 at Comiskey Park to give the American League champions a split in their doubleheader. The White Sox outscored the Red Sox 6-5 in the nightcap.

It took strong hitting on his own part to win yesterday. He drove in three runs with a triple and a single and scored once to account for four of Boston's six runs.

Johnny Neum's Cincinnati Reds knocked the New York Giants out of sole possession of the National League leadership when they handed previously unbeaten Clint Hartung his first setback of the season and crushed the Giants 9-3. The defeat dropped the Polo Ground crew into a tie for first place with the idle Chicago Cubs.

Lefty Howie Pollet pitched and batted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field. Pollet cracked a single in the 10th inning to score Enos Slaughter from second with the tie-breaking run.

County Courts

CASE NEARS END

The case of Ohio against Mary Dawes, charged with arson, which started in common pleas court before Judge H. M. Rankin and a jury, Monday forenoon, was drawing to a close Tuesday afternoon.

The state rested its case Tuesday morning, and the defendant was placed on the stand and questioned at length, with rigid cross-examination by Prosecutor Clark Wickensimer.

CASE APPEALED

The case of George E. Blackmore against O. L. Streitenberger, wherein Justice George Worrell found for the defendant in an eviction case in which the plaintiff claims the defendant had refused to pay his rental of rooms in Bloomingburg, at $20 per month, has been carried to the common pleas court by the plaintiff.

Bush and Rankin represent the plaintiff and Clark Wickensimer represents the defendant.

Mrs. Nellie Hynes Gets Safety Award

The award in the safe driving campaign award for last week was made to Mrs. Nellie Hynes, 833 Dayton Avenue. She received a $5 cash award and a "safe driving" citation.

This is in accordance with the campaign sponsored by the Mac Dews insurance agency and the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Hynes' careful driving was viewed by a police officer and a C of C representative. She was driving a Ford sedan, license number 825 KQ, and when followed was driving north on North Hinde Street and turning west on Market Street on Tuesday, May 27, at 1:30 P. M.

A new prize winner is selected each week without the driver's knowledge that he or she is being followed and watched as to observing safe driving rules.

Dawson Doing Duty As Extra Policeman

Willis Dawson, who recently passed the civil service tests and was placed on the eligible list for appointment to the police force, has been placed on duty while Policeman Walter Marshall is on a vacation.

Dawson will also substitute for other members of the force while they are on vacation.

Flax designed and finished the costumes.

Tickets are on sale at the school and from any of the students. These may be exchanged for reserved seats at Patton's Book Store starting Saturday.

Fayette County Hobby Club Has Supper Meeting

Many Extraordinary Articles Shown at Gathering

Rain having interfered with plans for a picnic supper and meeting at the roadside park on the Fair Grounds here, Monday evening, 25 members of the Fayette County Hobby Club enjoyed an elaborate covered dish supper in the club rooms over the Record Herald office, and held a business session afterward.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Corwin Carr, plans for making a club exhibit of hobbies at the Fayette County Fair were discussed, and decision reached to make such an exhibit, non-competitive, if arrangements can be made.

A committee also was named to work out classifications for the next hobby show to be held in connection with the annual corn show.

Membership of the club, which was organized February 8, 1947, with a membership of 15, now stands at 50.

The following new members were announced at the Monday night meeting.

Miss Charlene Kistling, Miss Violet Kistling, 375 S. High Street, Columbus; Mrs. Tillie Lemon R. 2; Alfred Hidy, Mrs. Ruth Hidy and Edwin Hidy, 325 Rose Ave., city.

Most of the members brought unusual articles to be exhibited and described during the meeting. This is always an outstanding feature of the club, which meets the first Monday night of each month.

Some of the exhibits included: Indian artifacts of various kinds; collection of loaded cartridges, flowers made from shells, old glassware and china, old violin and hand-made case, leather holder used by shoemaker 125 years ago, unusual china elephants, Indian beads, unusual husking peg made from tusk of a wild boar killed in this part of Ohio a century ago, and a set of old wood-working tools.

New Member Added

The Snappy Stitches 4-H Club took in one new member at a meeting at the home of Patty Patton.

Doris Hamilton was taken in as a membership the business meeting, which was followed by contests and games. The meeting was opened as the girls repeated the 4-H Club pledge in unison. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Norma Theobald on Thursday.

Texas Hauls Ohio Horses And is Fined

A Texas truck, hauling horses from one point to another in Ohio with a truck bearing a Texas license, was fined $50 and costs by Justice George Worrell, upon complaint filed by Robert K. Arehart.

Tommy Thompson, of Fort Worth, Texas, was the driver. The case is the first of its kind in Ohio, and Thompson was charged with hauling horses from Beulah Park, Grove City, to River Downs, Cincinnati.

The Ohio law provides that trucks bearing licenses other than Ohio licenses can not haul for hire between points in Ohio.

anything to prevent others from following the schedule later.

No formal announcement has come from the stores that plan to remain open six days a week or from the stores not on the declared half-holiday list.

Conspicuous by their absence from the list are the food markets, hardware stores, appliance and accessory shops and implement and automobile agencies.

One of the avowed objectives of the Retail Merchants Council was uniformity in store hours. It was brought out, however, at the organization meeting that some stores had peculiar problems that necessitated special consideration.

Proponents of the half-holiday argued that the Thursday afternoon closing facilitated compliance with the wage and hour laws and that clerks appreciated the half day off each week.

Those who said the half-holidays would complicate things for them cited an overload of service needs and receipt of merchandise shipments. Hardware and implement dealers said farmers needed six-day-a-week service during the busy summer months when time is important to planting, cultivating and harvesting schedules.

Ambitious Farmers' Club Discusses Plans

Projects for the year are underway today for the Ambitious Farmers Club of '47 following a meeting Friday at which 15 members were present.

After the business meeting, the group played several games.
